FOREWORD

The aspect of service to the academic community is sometimes overlooked when we examine achievements of those within the University. We want to recognize the importance of service by our faculty, students, staff and administrators to the vitality and direction of Marshall University. Also, many individuals throughout our region contribute their ideas on the operation and direction of academic programs and other related programs and services of the University.

This publication, Advisory Committees within Marshall University, contains descriptions and membership lists of committees within the President's Office, School of Medicine, School of Nursing, Provost's Office, Student Affairs, the academic colleges and the Library. These committees are advisory in nature and stand apart from the Institutional Board of Advisors, the Staff Council, and recognized student organizations. The University Council and its Standing Committees, which represent The Marshall University Faculty in determining matters of educational policy, are also not included.

This committee meets when necessary. Minutes are filed in the dean's office.

Planning and Review Committee

Purpose of this committee is to meet regularly each semester to facilitate the solution of problems or issues emerging within the college that are related to the growth and development of the college; oversee program evaluation in the college; serve as an appellate group on matters of a general nature referred by the dean or to solve issues where other committees have reached an impasse; be responsible for establishing college ad hoc committees; evaluate the functions of the Planning and Review Committee and to update and otherwise revise those functions in congruence with the evaluation data.

Members are elected - one from each department.

This committee meets when necessary. Minutes are filed in the dean's office.

Program Committee

Purpose of this committee is to facilitate the development of new programs; approve and transmit new programs to the Policy Council; set standards for admission to and completion of programs; to coordinate all programs within the college: (a) ongoing, (b) research; set policy for the coordination of all field experiences (including student teaching); make recommendations to the faculty concerning new programs and course options; review and approve/reject course proposals; develop and coordinate evaluation policies to ensure that existing programs are updated and otherwise revised in congruence with program evaluation data.

Members consist of one representative elected from each department plus one representative from each of the other basic colleges.

This committee meets when necessary. Minutes are filed in the dean's office.

Reading Advisory Council

Purpose of this committee is to serve in an advisory capacity to Marshall COE administrators and Reading staff for the following purposes: to serve as a liaison between and among counties and college personnel; to assess needs of counties and articulate those needs to the Reading staff and administration; to advise the COE Reading staff as to course and program changes, additions, and deletions in the area of reading; to plan workshops, lectures and activities that benefit counties and college students, teachers and other personnel; to develop a PR program between laymen and educators.

Each county administration selects a reading specialist, a lower level and an upper level classroom teacher. The graduate student, a GA in the Reading Specialist Program, usually serves as the secretary. The undergraduate student is selected by an instructor of CI 343. The Director of the Reading Center is a member.

This committee meets once per semester. Minutes are filed with the chairman and the secretary.

Secondary Education Advisory Council

Purpose of this committee is to coordinate joint programs between the public schools and Marshall University; to enhance community involvement and support through input from lay people; to review program offerings; to examine and react to program changes; to provide a forum for interchange of ideas between the public and the program areas involved.

Members are appointed by the program director with staff recommendations.

This committee meets once per semester. Minutes are filed with the Director of Secondary Education.

Special Education Advisory Committee

Purpose of this committee is to assist the Special Education Division in program development, and to provide direct feedback as to the program modification needed in the college teacher training program.
